1. What are they?
2. How many are there?
3. When did the last one erupt?

Supervolcano!

If a supervolcano erupted, 1. the whole world would freeze!

A super volcano is an extremely large and powerful volcano that can change the world's climate and its ecosystems. It's 1,000 times more powerful than an ordinary volcano. There are about 40 supervolcanoes on earth, but fortunately, they don't erupt often – the last one erupted in Indonesia 74,000 years ago.

Unbelievably, one of the world's top tourist attractions, Yellowstone National Park, is a super volcano. If you go there, 2. _____!

However, you don't need to worry – the last time it erupted was 64,000 years ago. What would happen if the Yellowstone volcano erupted today?

Day 1 – Yellowstone Park, US

3. _____, huge amounts of hot ash and rock would shoot up into the air at 250 kph. The cities of Denver and Salt Lake would be destroyed immediately, and 4. _____. Eventually, the ash would cover $\frac{3}{4}$ of the US; there would be no drinking water or crops.

Week 1 – Europe

The whole Europe would be covered in a grey cloud. Summer would turn to winter and in some places 5. _____. No European country would be able to grow food for five years.

The next three months – worldwide

90% of our sunlight would be lost and the world experience a volcanic winter.

The tropical forests would die, and food crops in warm countries such as India and China, would fail. Only countries near the North and South Poles could survive. Iceland would do well because a lot of its food is grown in greenhouses so 6. _____.

Eventually

Mankind could become as extinct as the dinosaurs!

Should we be worried?

Fortunately, scientists say that the supervolcano will not erupt in the near future. They think such events are unlikely to happen for the next few centuries.

However, there are many volcanoes around the world that could erupt at any time, and if they do, 7. _____! One of the volcanoes that scientists are watching is Ol Doinyo Lengai in Tanzania. 8. _____, it will destroy local villages, and possibly even a 19,000-year-old historic site.

The good news is that volcanoes and supervolcanoes are well-monitored by experts, so we can all get on with our lives and stop worrying.
